

Sports are Just the Beginning

Do you think it's wrong that grown men are allowed to expose their penises in women's locker rooms – even when underage girls are present?

Are you appalled that male criminals are serving their sentences in women's jails – especially when sexual assault is the reason they're in prison in the first place?

Does it trouble you that universities are threatening to expel students who state facts like “women have vaginas”?

These problems and more are addressed in the Declaration on Women's Sex-Based Rights.

Men are Taking Over Women's Sports

It's happening at all levels and in all sports:

In youth soccer, where one boy is literally blocking girls' dreams as goalie on 3 girls' soccer teams.

In high school track, where girls were left to compete for third place – because two boys kept taking first AND second at state championships.

In college basketball, where a 6'6” man in his fifties was the leading scorer on a women's team (and the leading rebounder in the state).

In elite cycling, where a man has won multiple women's world championships and set multiple “women's” world records.

These examples are just the tip of the iceberg.

Don't wait until there's a man competing in YOUR sport. The time to fight back is NOW.

Think it's unfair for men to compete in women's sports?

WDI

We oppose all forms of discrimination against women and girls that result from replacing “sex” with “gender identity” in law, policy, and social practice.

Who Are We?

A group of volunteer women from around the world dedicated to protecting the rights laid out in our Declaration on Women's Sex-Based Rights.

Our Declaration has over 20,000 individual signatures from 140 countries in collaboration with 380 organizations.

We're getting organized, with country contacts in more than 30 countries and 20 U.S. states.

What the Declaration Says About Sports:

Article 7

“Article 10 (g) of the CEDAW provides that States Parties shall ensure ‘[t]he same Opportunities to participate actively in sports and physical education’ for girls and women as for boys and men. This should include the provision of opportunities for girls and women to participate in sports and physical education on a single-sex basis. To ensure fairness and safety for women and girls, the entry of boys and men who claim to have female ‘gender identities’ into teams, competitions, facilities, or changing rooms, set aside for women and girls should be prohibited as a form of sex discrimination.”

Did You Know?

Men can say that they “identify” as women and then compete in women's sports.

88% of men who claim to “identify” as women still have their penis.

Most sporting bodies don't require men to have genital surgery before competing as women – including the Olympics and NCAA.

Testosterone suppression does NOT erase male athletic advantage. Studies show that even after 3 years, advantage persists. The Olympics and the NCAA require only 1 year.

Some sporting bodies let men compete as women without lowering their testosterone at all.

Even before puberty, boys have athletic advantages over girls. This starts as young as age 4.
